LIAISON LIBRARIAN

The Library assigns a liaison librarian for each faculty, school, and institute. They help facilitate the use of information to support teaching, learning, and research and ensure that library services are aligned with the faculty's needs.

The role of a liaison librarian includes:

1. Teaching library users how to find, evaluate, and use information effectively.
2. Providing personalized guidance and consultation sessions through email, phone, and individual or group consultations.
3. Developing strong working relationships and partnerships with faculties, schools, institutes and centers.
4. Promoting library services and resources to users.
5. Providing expert assistance to users seeking information and resources in their subject area for teaching and learning needs.
6. Assisting in developing library collections aligned with teaching and research and taking suggestions on new titles or collection areas.
